SUCCESS MADE IN HOMESTEADING ARE TOLD BOARD

Members of Agriculture and Forestry Commission Defend Its Principles

What looked like an impending warm controversy between A. L. C. Atkinson and Governor Pinkham Friday afternoon at the meeting of the board of agriculture and forestry ended in agreement. Atkinson disputed what he understood to be the statement of the governor that homesteaders in Hawaii did not generally make a success of their undertakings. "Homesteading has been successful in certain instances in Hawaii," he asserted. "It is only when the wrong people are put on the wrong land, when the two do not fit, that there are failures. No prettier, more prosperous homes can be found on the mainland than those of the homesteaders on Kauai. The successful small farms at Kalahao are a monument to Governor Carter's administration. The Keala homesteads established by Governor Frear and the present administration will be a tremendous success."

"Yes," interjected Arthur Rice, chairman of the board. "One homesteader at Kapaa made so much money last year that he could afford to buy three Fordas, one for himself and two to give to friends."

The break in Atkinson's talk gave the governor an opportunity to declare himself. "You must have misunderstood me, Mr. Atkinson," he said. "I have never disputed the statement that homesteading is a success here. What I said just before you started to speak was that I had a great number of letters from people on the mainland asking how they can get land, when they can get it and where they can get it and that I cannot answer them."

MERRY TIME AT HEINIE'S

A large, happy, merry throng and a real enjoyable and pleasant time will be the order at Heinie's Tavern tonight. George Willey, genial host, is elated with the extremely large crowds that have been the rule at the Tavern and is leaving no efforts unspared to make Saturday night at Heinie's an institution and center of social gaiety. So run up tonight, leave routine and dull care behind and join in the jolly good time.—Adv.

ROAD COMMITTEE OF SUPERVISORS PLANS TO PUSH WORK ALONG

The road committee went on the warpath Friday afternoon. Meeting in Supervisor Larsen's office they determined to push through at once all improvement projects before the board, some of which have been hanging fire for weeks. "Here is the list," said Supervisor Arnold after the meeting. "Hotel street widening, at Fort street; Beretania street widening, between Fort and Nuanu streets; Nuanu street widening, between Beretania and Kukul streets; Smith street extension to Queen street; Beretania street improvement, from Nuanu to King street."

TWO SUPERVISORS ARE OPPOSING PAYMENT OF COURT INDEBTEDNESS

At least two members of the board of supervisors, William Larsen and Charles N. Arnold, will not vote funds with which to pay unpaid court expenses for the first half of the year. They said so Friday afternoon. "Dan Logan, as chairman of the finance committee, can bring in such a resolution if he wants to, but I will not vote for it," declared Larsen. "Kokua," chimed in Arnold.

REFORM SCHOOLS BOARD MUST OBSERVE ECONOMY

Owing to the rise in price of nearly all commodities, members of the industrial schools board discovered at a meeting today that they will have to apportion very carefully the budget for the next six months in order that it may meet the needs of the boys' school at Waialeale and the girls' school at Moiliili. The budget provides $1033.33 a month for the boys' school and $833.33 a month for the girls' school. These funds were appropriated by the last legislature.

CHINESE DESIRE TO HAVE WIVES JOIN THEM HERE

Immigration Officials Make Trip to Investigate Before Permission is Given

Richard L. Halsey, inspector of the United States immigration service, leaves this afternoon with Darrell A. Meek of his office and a Chinese interpreter to investigate requests of several Chinese in Hawaii and possibly some in Maui who wish to bring their wives to Honolulu from China.

According to the immigration department people, Hawaiian Chinese are bringing their China wives here as fast as possible on account of the unsettled condition in their native country. Every ship from the Orient recently has brought several Chinese wives who have suffered from or who fear depredations of Chinese rebels.

Chinese in Hawaii are forbidden by special United States laws to bring wives from China until they have become merchants here with a $500 capital and have been in one business continuously for one year. Hence it is the ambition of every married Chinese laborer here to some day become a merchant so he may bring his spouse across the Pacific, and it is cases of this nature which the immigration authorities will investigate in Hawaii.

The immigration officers say that those Chinese women who have obtained permission to come to their husbands have considerable difficulty obtaining passage to Honolulu since the discontinuance of some of the Oriental boats. It is said that trans-Pacific boats leaving China give preference to passengers bound for the Pacific coast and if these take all available accommodations, those bound for Honolulu are left behind, regardless of their passports and the wealth of the expectant husband with the $500 business in the Territory of Hawaii, United States of America. It is one of the few instances where it is considerably more difficult to take a short trip than a long one.
